Anthony M [REDACTED] WSU rental by [REDACTED] Claudia H [REDACTED], Gloucestershire, UK

Please excuse the slight lateness of this feedback, as we were late starting with the device and then had trouble locating the feedback instructions!

We have been using the WSU during sleep for the last 3 weeks. Although we are in the field for several hours each night, the reactors are spread fairly widely, greater than 6 feet apart. We also have one Loop although use of this has been sporadic so far.

A main intention for myself, physically, is the clearing of a chronic skin condition. Also interested to see any other noticeable effects on physical, mental, spiritual levels.

So far I have not seen any helpful result with the skin issue. What I have noticed, which may be as a result of the WSU, is that sleep is generally good and feeling a little deeper than previously. Also, when performing more strenuous physical tasks—for example, carrying and stacking large deliveries of logs on three almost consecutive days as well as a lot of garden digging and maintenance and suchlike during the same days—I have felt robust and not felt fatigued at any point. This was noticeable enough that it was interesting to me and I wonder if the WSU has a part in this.

I am curious what the exact nature of “having an intention” is, according to yourselves and your experience of these devices. Perhaps my own process can be improved, which is essentially just bringing the issue to mind and then relaxing. Many thanks, very interesting so far in this first month.
