

Consciousness, the Quantum Field, Life Force Energy

An Introduction

by Orynoco Ltd

© copyright 2023 to current, Orynoco Ltd
~ all worldwide rights reserved ~

www.orynoco.com
orynoco-team@orynoco.com

© Our Dedication

At Orynoco Ltd we're dedicated to pioneering and perfecting a new type of technology that works with the quantum field to provide access to the pure life force energy and information fields that are inherent within it, and within us.

© The Problem & Our Solution

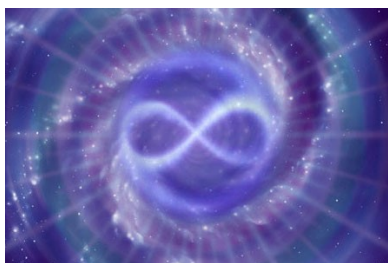

Our view is that many, if not all, of the physiological and ecological problems we are faced with today are due to energy and information that has become distorted, corrupted, and even lost altogether.

If we can supply fresh pure energy and information to a biological or ecological system, it can self-correct and begin to operate and function as it was always meant to; vitalised and informed by the vast energy, resources and Intelligence of the Universe.

The Quantum Field

There is a great deal of discussion taking place today regarding the quantum field. Some of it is quite scientific and complicated. Some of it is metaphysical and spiritual. Some of it is just the product of wildly creative imaginations.

For our purposes we do not need any complex, fanciful or hard to understand definitions of the quantum field, even though all of these may be fun to explore at times. All we really need is the fundamental understanding that everything we know emerges or coalesces from the quantum field and is sustained by it.

What we call life force energy is a pure fundamental energy that powers all of life. Without it, life cannot exist. The quantum field is ubiquitous, it exists everywhere and in everything.

The burning question that therefore arises from this understanding, is this: if this quantum field as a source of pure energy and information exists everywhere and in everything, then why do we have corrupt energy and information in our biological and ecological systems?

The simplest way of explaining this is through an analogy wherein our biological and ecological systems are akin to a musical instrument. By being immersed in strong fields of disharmony, discordance and chaos they have gone 'out of tune.' They no longer resonate with the pure notes or tones in the universal harmonic scale.

They are essentially playing discordant, out of tune music. This then shows up on the physical level of manifestation as all the problems, disorders and diseases we witness plaguing our biological and ecological systems in the modern world.

The challenges, stress and the demands of everyday life detune us. All the elements are available as a perfect note at the quantum level.

Our solution is a technology that can access, resonate with, and 'play' the pure notes of the universal harmonic scale. Conscious Tech informed by our conscious intent can retune us to sound the perfect note. This occurs when we immerse our biological and ecological systems (our musical instruments) in the field that our technology creates, it allows them to recalibrate and re-tune so they begin resonating with and playing the pure universal notes and tones once again.

The return of such profound harmony and pure vital energy forms on this subtle energy level, causes the biological and ecological problems that manifested while in the discordant state, to grow weak and fade away.

This occurs as our biological and ecological systems re-orient and return to their optimal functioning and performance once again.

©What is Conscious Tech?

Quite simply put, Conscious Tech is technology that is interactive with your own consciousness. Our instructions for using Orynoco Conscious Tech always speak about the importance of intention. This is one of the key ways in which our Conscious Tech interacts with your own consciousness.

As with most things, there is a bit more to be understood about this interactivity as well. As an example, we've had quite a few people report using one of our Wholeness Support Units (WSU) whereby they had excellent experiences without having consciously set any intentions at all. You might be wondering why is this even possible?

The answer lies in an understanding of the different levels of your consciousness. Your soul may have some very specific intentions for your experiences in a WSU or other types of subtle energy technology. Your subconscious self will also often have intentions for what it seeks to achieve.

All of these levels of intentions, which you may not be consciously aware of, are nonetheless present in your field. They can and will inform the field created by the Conscious Tech just as your conscious intentions will.

This helps explain why people have wonderfully beneficial experiences with our Conscious Tech even when they have not consciously set an intention for their sessions.

It also raises another point for consideration. This point is the potential for your various levels of ‘intentions’ to be mis-aligned with each other. This type of condition is common and can lead to results that are not as robust as one might hope for; they’re not harmful, just less than optimal.

We therefore would recommend additionally creating a 'Master Conscious Intention' something akin to, "only for the best and highest good". This helps create greater alignment within all your inner aspects of self. It gives your soul better control so it can make sure that only the most beneficial intentions you hold in your field will prevail for your session. In fact, subconscious intentions you're unaware of, and which may be acting as a type of energy block, can be dissolved through the power of your own soul's embrace whenever you're using this approach.

Additionally, our WSU V4 in particular (seen in photo on page 5), has a special TSE (Transition State Element) that is designed to facilitate a soul connection and thus give your soul full control over your session with the V4.

With your soul in charge, you have a higher intelligence and awareness guiding your Conscious Tech sessions.

© Energy & Information Fields

Energy and information are intimately inter-related regardless of how you tend to view them. For our purposes herein we don't need complicated technical discussions. What we need is a basic understanding of how both energy and information are necessary for the processes of life.

It's easy to understand how energy is necessary for life. We commonly talk about our energy levels and so forth. Therefore, in regard to energy what we need to understand is that there are many different forms that energy can take. Energy in the quantum field is a different form of energy than the energy in a lightning bolt, or a powerful waterfall. It is subtler for one. There are also different forms of subtle energy.

The main energy we are concerned with in all of our products is what we call 'life force energy'. This is the fundamental energy of the universe that originates in the quantum field and then takes on various forms as it dances with various life and matter forms on the manifest plane of reality.

Life force energy which has freshly emerged from the quantum field is pure and pristine. It has not interacted with any dysfunctional energy on the physical plane. This newly emerged pristine life force energy has the power to entrain other energy to it. In so doing, it can re-vitalise another energy which has become dysfunctional and depleted.

This is one of the key beneficial activities of our Orynoco technology. It opens quantum pathways for biological and ecological systems to become immersed within a field of re-invigorating pristine life force energy.

The idea that subtle information is necessary for life is harder to understand. One of the most important types of subtle information is frequency. If an energy has a frequency, then this is part of the information it carries inherently within it.

Each elemental bit of matter has its own fundamental frequency. With the information supplied by sub-atomic and atomic frequencies, elements can take form. The elements then further coalesce into complex molecules.

The frequencies of these complex molecules are quite amazing because they're comprised of all the frequencies of the different types of atoms within them; they all exist in resonant and harmonious arrangements.

In this way, a molecule's frequency is similar to an orchestra playing a complex but beautiful classical piece of music. While frequency is only one form of information, it's clear that it plays quite a key role in biological and ecological life systems.

We can also ponder in awe just how much information of all sorts must be available in order to create something as complex as a living human organism out of the raw building materials of the Earth. Science is still investigating where this vast store of information might be found. In our view, it's all inherent within the quantum field and can be accessed along with a limitless supply of pure life force energy.

For example, the information on how to build your entire body from just two cells exists, or your body would not exist. This information is like a template for the perfect form of a biological or ecological system. If any part of our body is struggling, dysfunctional or worse; its information has been corrupted. It will also have lost its ability to re-connect in order to refresh its information field and overwrite/replace the corrupt data with fresh data.

We've talked about energy and information, but there's also this idea of them being associated with a 'field.' A simple way to relate to this term is to think of it as a property of space that holds, stores and propagates charge, force, polarity, amplitude and even frequency. In normal science a field has directionality and motion (vector). In quantum science a field is not generally thought to have directionality and motion in the same way (scalar).

Both energy and information exist in fields; they nearly always exist together in those fields; they are thus rather inseparable for all of our intents and purposes.

Dissolving Barriers

The title to this section is another great way of describing what Orynoco quantum tech does, e.g., it dissolves barriers.

There are two main types of barriers that can be dissolved.

The primary barrier to be dissolved is that between our manifest state of being in the world and the quantum field of all potentials and unlimited possibilities.

The secondary barriers are those within ourselves. These are considered secondary because once the primary barrier has been dissolved, the secondary barriers begin to dissolve as well.

Until this occurs, the secondary barriers may well be experienced as the only dynamic you have to deal with.

Orynoco quantum tech addresses the primary barrier. It opens a pathway in the quantum field for pure life force energy and information to flow into the overall field created by our technology. In this way the field of our technology becomes a living cocoon filled with pristine life force energy and information. Biological and ecological systems can take whatever they need from this field.

In the case of our WSU V4 your own soul is further empowered to make use of this field of pure life force energy and information to heal the body and evolve the consciousness of the persona; both are but vehicles the soul has created and is using for its purpose on Earth.

Opening Universal Flow

When a biological or ecological living system is immersed within the field created by our quantum tech, as we've previously described, they will be experiencing a field enlivened and vitalised with fresh, radiant, pristine life force energy and information fields.

Such an immersion puts numerous processes into motion; for simplicity's sake we can address these all as one dynamic; which is replacing dysfunctional and corrupt energy and information with fresh, radiant, pristine life force energy and information.

Once this overall process has been initiated then we must learn to sustain that fresh and enlivened field of pristine energy and information. Repeated or continual use of our technology can offer a great deal of assistance here.

Each biological and ecological system's innate intelligence must entrain itself to maintain and sustain a continuous universal flow between the pristine quantum field and their own biofield.

This is in part established through resonance principles.

Resonance is when two things vibrate at the same frequency or an octave (multiple) of that frequency. As your field re-experiences the field of pristine life force energies and information, it will naturally start to find resonance with it. If your field has been resonating with unhealthy energies and information for some time, as is the case for most people today, it may take a period of time for this resonance re-entrainment to take place.

Your goal is to establish this universal resonance strongly enough that it can then sustain itself without as much conscious effort on your part. This will be different for each person. Your intuition is your most valuable guide here.

As this process unfolds, you'll become increasingly aware of changes taking place on various levels of your body and being. Correction of long-standing physical problems is a distinct possibility (not guaranteed). However, all physical transformations must be accompanied by changes in consciousness. You should therefore always try to be self-aware around how your consciousness and awareness is changing as well.

Some people will have gone through most or all of the consciousness changes needed and they will be ready right away for the physical transformational process. Yet there will be others just starting out and their initial experience with our technology may be addressing the consciousness components first, or possibly addressing them side by side along with the physical transformations that are needed.

In the end we are all aiming for a sustained universal flow of pure life force energy and information into and through our biofield. Orynoco technology has been developed for facilitating this purpose.

🌀 Accessing Your Purity

We've discussed 'pure' life force energy and information. This type of energy is our true heritage. It's what we truly are underneath all of the layers, patterns and exogenous influences that have polluted our field.

The purity of this life force energy emanating from the quantum field is also our own purity. It's both our point of origin and our point of return.

Everything we've related to you thus far is about accessing and re-embodiment this pristine pure life force energy and information. This activity represents a form of transformation; one that can take you from an experience of dysfunctional, limited energies with corrupted information patterns, to an experience of your innate purity and perfection on all levels of your being.

Accessing your purity is a deeply profound and most powerful experience. It can truly have beneficial effects for your body, your psyche, your emotions and your consciousness.

Our quantum technology offers you a rejuvenation potential that goes far beyond just patching things up for a while. Instead, you're offered an opportunity to 'enter the field' of our quantum tech and immerse your human self in a field of purity; e.g., pure life force energy and information.

Your field, body and being will know what to do. They will be able to take what they need from that field of purity to re-establish your human purity state.

All you need to do is relax in the field, trust in the process, surrender, and open your heart to welcome your return to purity.

NOTES

NOTES

SCAN QR CODE BELOW TO:

Buy Printed Copies of this or Download a FREE PDF

© copyright 2023 to current, Orynoco Ltd
~ all worldwide rights reserved ~

www.orynoco.com | orynoco-team@orynoco.com

ORYNOCO LTD

www.orynoco.com | orynoco-team@orynoco.com